THE CALIFORNIA TRAIL California Trail

The 1840s saw large numbers of emigrants from the United States coming into the area for the first time. The California Trail was primarily used from 1842 to 1845 during the greatest mass migration in American history, when more than 200,000 people crossed the barren landscape for the gold fields and the promise of California. Some 300,000 people came to California from the rest of the United States during the 1840s. Many of whom passed through the Lake area.
